Audience

Who would I like to interview?

Some people are masterful in accomplishing what they want without any effort. Others have the financial resources to “make it happen.”

And then there are those who have the determination against all odds to accomplish what’s in their head and heart to do. They persevere against all odds. They see the vision in their head and press through until they see it actualized in their life. They are the ones who believe, “without a vision, it just won’t happen.”

That’s the person I want to interview. Do you have a story, or business that you’ve built that will encourage, motivate, inspire and help someone else to make up their mind to accomplish what’s in their heart to do. I want to interview YOU!.
